Supporting young people to tackle drug and alcohol-related issues

If you are experiencing difficulties associated with your own or another person's drug or alcohol use, Compass Harrow offers a range of free, professional support services to help you tackle these tough situations.

Our friendly, caring and experienced team offer confidential and effective services that will help you move positively towards a substance-free life.

Developing a plan of care – just for you

You have the peace of mind that all our services are completely confidential. We will ask you about your specific needs and goals and the support you're looking for. Our specialists will explain how we can help and will develop a personalised plan of care that's right for you.

We operate right across the borough of Harrow, which means we can provide our services at a location that's easy for you to get to.

About Compass Harrow Young People's Service

The Harrow Compass Young People's team provides targeted and specialist support interventions and activities for children and young people who are affected by their own or another person's substance misuse. We provide a non-judgemental and empathic service to help people live healthier and better lifestyles, substance free.

Our aim: A brighter future for you

We want to help you move away from problematic drug and alcohol issues and start the process of building a brighter future by gaining greater control of your life.

Serving the community by...

- Easy referral process for self referrals, family members and professionals
- Being visible with our outreach
- Understanding local need and targeting our resources appropriately

All-round support for all young people

We work with children and young people up to the age of 24 and accept referrals for people up to the age of 18. Whatever your background you can rely on our support to address your specific requirements and goals. We work closely with a number of other specialist service providers to offer a comprehensive support service
